

Symphony PLUS® Breast Pump

For Home Use

Congratulations on your new baby!

The first few days after birth are an exciting and special time, but also an important time for you to begin your breast milk feeding journey. During the first week after your baby arrives, your milk supply is being initiated. For most moms, milk comes in between days two and five after birth. Beginning to breastfeed within the first 30 – 60 minutes after your baby's birth is important to ensure breastfeeding is off to a good start for initiating, building and maintaining a plentiful milk supply.

Why rent the Symphony PLUS Breast Pump?

In the first few days of life, infants' sucking patterns stimulate mothers' breasts for optimal milk production. If you and your baby encounter challenges during these initial breastfeeding sessions or if you experience certain conditions (such as C-section, obesity, moms over 30 years old, or being a first-time mom) this may hinder your ability to produce plentiful amounts of breast milk.<sup>1</sup> Using Symphony PLUS soon after birth can significantly increase your milk supply.<sup>**2</sup>
